THE INVITATION

I am so excited to invite you to join me on this expedition.

As a child, some of the stories that fascinated me the most were of the life of Genghis Khan. The vivid depictions of the rugged landscape he rode through and the eagle that sat upon his arm captured my imagination. I dreamed of hurtling through the landscape on the back of a stocky pony, wind blowing through my unkempt hair, eyes alight with my very own eagle ensconced upon my arm.

This is a trip I have been dreaming up for several years. I love that this adventure is a full immersion into Mongolian culture, getting up close and personal with the local inhabitants and their beautiful eagles.

Join me as we head deep into the Altai region, quite literally one of the most remote places on this planet on horseback. As we ride through the landscape towards the Eagle festival, we will visit and spend nights with Eagle hunters in traditional Gers learning about their culture and hearing the stories of hunts and of warriors through the ages. We will live as these nomadic peoples have done for so long.

As the sun sets each evening we will make camp. Ensuring our horses are fed and watered we will sit around the camp fire and recount the days ride and listen to traditional stories and songs.

Accompanying us will be one of the most incredible photographers I know who will not only capture these memories on film for you to keep but will also be on hand to help you take beautiful shots of the landscape and the adventure as we traverse through it. No matter whether you choose to just use the camera on your phone or use an SLR, they will be on hand throughout the trip with tips and tools to help you take beautiful images.

The final few days will be spent at the Festival of the Eagles, there are several of these festivals where the Eagle hunters converge to compete with their birds and other traditional sports. I have chosen a small and intimate festival which allows us to be close to the action, to interact with the competitors without hundreds of other visitors.

I'd love you to join me.

"Thank you for what really was a truly magical trip and introducing me to such wonderful people! Coming back, I've felt so emotionally empowered and energised. It's weird to explain but it's all in a good way!" - Flavia, guest on 2022 trip.
